Columbus, OH, March 30, 2011: GBQ is proud to announce the launch of our online blog created to serve as an information and discussion forum for businesses, organizations and individuals.

The blog can be found at www.gbqueue.com and features posts related to a variety of topics including technical issues relevant to our clients, best practices, profitable growth, business technology, community, and industry trends. GBQ invites those interested to keep up with new posts through Facebook, Twitter and by subscribing to the blog's RSS feed.

"Ultimately, we created GBQueue to keep our clients, referral sources and friends of the firm updated with accounting and financial news and information," says Sara Robertson, Marketing Manager. "A blog seemed like the most logical way to stay connected on a regular basis using social media to share information and observations in a timely manner," adds Robertson.
